OVERVIEW OF THE LEASING, TRADE FINANCE AND SUKUK INDUSTRIES

LEASING INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

- Banks and other lenders maintained a positive outlook of the asset-based lending market in the first quarter of 2024, driven by forecasts of slow decline of the US economy. Notwithstanding, lenders remain wary of the forthcoming regulatory changes and continue to monitor investment portfolios for post-pandemic pressures.
- The Equipment Leasing and Finance Association's (ELFA) Monthly Leasing and Finance Index (MLFI-25), which reports economic activity from twenty-five companies representing a cross section of the USD 1 trillion equipment finance sector, showed their overall new business volume for May 2024 was USD 10.2 billion, or an annualized increase of 11%. Cumulative new business volume was up by 6.0% year-to-date, compared to 2023.
- On a separate note, the Equipment Leasing and Finance Foundation's (ELFF) Monthly Confidence Index (MCI-EFI) which reports a qualitative assessment of both the prevailing business conditions and expectations for the future of the equipment finance sector, declined slightly to 50.2 in June from 50.7 in May.

TRADE FINANCE INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

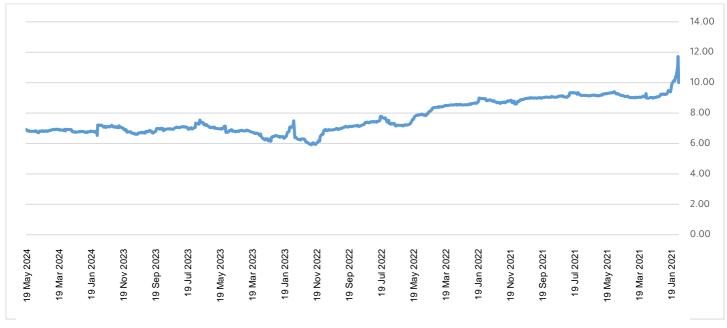

• According to the IMF World Economic Outlook for June 2024, world trade is expected to grow by 2.5% in 2024, recovering from an almost flat growth in 2023, however remaining lower than the pre-pandemic averages. Trade in commodities is expected to increase driven by increased global demand, particularly in the US, the Eurozone and China. Trade in services is expected to stabilize near the pre-pandemic averages.

- World trade expanded in May 2024, for the second time since March 2022. According to S&P's Global Purchasing Managers Index (PMI), the Global PMI Index for new export orders remained at 50.6 in May (stable compared to April), recording the second month of increased exports and improved trade conditions for manufacturing and services.
- The global trade finance gap has widened to USD 2.5 trillion (per recent ADB survey of September 2023), registering a 47% increase from its previous survey which had estimated the 2020 trade finance gap at USD 1.7 trillion. The gap currently represents 10% of global trade in goods. It continues to adversely affect small and medium enterprises worldwide.

SUKUK INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

- According to Fitch, outstanding global sukuk value rose to over US$ 867 billion as at the end of the first quarter of 2024, an annualized increase of 10.3%. Total sukuk issuances in primary markets reached US$ 56.8 billion in the first quarter of 2024, maintaining the status of sukuk as a vital financing instrument with a 33% share of the capital market issuances.
- Fitch expects global sukuk issuances will continue to grow during the remaining part of 2024, driven by financing needs, diversification, refinancing requirements and lower interest rates. However, Fitch forecasts growth to be slower compared to the first quarter of 2024.
- In the first half of 2024, the US Dow Jones Sukuk Index (ex-reinvestment) gained 0.65% while S&P GCC Bond and Sukuk Index declined by 0.29%.
